

Maude Sandham is a vibrant physical theatre maker, director, intimacy coordinator, and actress based in Johannesburg, South Africa. With a strong foundation in directing and physical performance from Makhanda and Berlin, she has crafted over 15 original stage works. Passionate about auto-ethnographic storytelling, clowning, and collaborative making, Maude has toured Europe with the Les Balladins Circus Project, using performance to engage with refugees and migrants. Currently, she acts in Kyknet's Binnelanders, and has completed advanced training as an Intimacy Coordinator through Safe Sets via Netflix. Maude's television credits include productions for Netflix and Showmax, showcasing her commitment to innovative storytelling in the modern media landscape.
